

What does Antenna Quality do that $\epsilon$ doesn't?

$\epsilon$  and  $\lambda_{\max}$  behave like independent variables in practice:

It is much easier to compare the product than to compare  $\epsilon$  and  $\lambda_{\max}$  individually.

Which one is better aligned?

